Neshaminy To Construct 3 Buildings

By GREG NAGY

A $3,070,000 bond issue for the construction of a new complex of school buildings for Neshaminy Junior and Senior High School was passed by the Neshaminy Joint School Board last night.

The bond issue for the new buildings will be paid for over a period of 36 years and 10 months. The board hopes to receive bids for the bond issue at 3 1/2 per cent interest.

The three buildings to be built include an auditorium with a 600 seating capacity, a gymnasium seating 3,800, and a three-story circular library which will house a cafeteria in its basement. After a three year period, a large classroom unit will be built. Board members had expected a considerably lower price for the package, but were disappointed when it was learned the lowest bid for the general contracting, by Wilson and Company, of Philadelphia, was $450,000 over the estimate of architect Paul d'Entremont for that item.

The architect blamed the erroneous estimate on himself and explained that he had failed to correctly calculate rising costs and had not accounted for higher proportioned ceilings which resulted in a greater cubic foot area.

Because of the unexpected high cost, the building project ran into opposition on the board. Raymond Schuehler, chairman of the committee on building and maintenance, would not recommend the move and thought the architect "should be given a new direction."

Later, Dr. Hickman, superintendent of Neshaminy schools, defended the proposal by estimating that the school year of 1965-66 might have to be put on a split or half-day schedule, and that many facilities would be severely overtaxed if new buildings were not constructed soon.

Opposes Measure

The most outspoken opponent of the measure was Lawrence Levinson, Middletown board member, who retorted that the board should wait and redesign the complex because there is no "guarantee" that the proposed buildings will be ready for 1965. "Save the money for education. Leave the frills out," he suggested.

Finally, after three hours of debate, the board became convinced of the urgency for the new plant and decided against redesigning. The architect pointed out that rebids on new designs waste time and are often just as expensive.

The measure for the bond issue passed by a considerable majority.

The board also passed a vote of confidence in architect d'Entremont, praising him for his hard work and openness in admitting his error.

ROUTE 13 BRIDGE UNSAFE

By SCOOP LEWIS
Courier-Times Staff Writer

Bristol Township wants a new and wider bridge on Route 13 over the Neshaminy Creek in Croydon.

Ronald Zweig, township manager, in a letter to Henry D. Harral, state secretary of highways, called the present two-lane span "unsafe and hazardous."

Zweig made his request for a four-lane bridge to the highway department after Harvey C.

Shaw, township traffic safety officer, and the township engineer inspected the antiquated span.

"The inspection revealed that the condition of the bridge is extremely poor," Zweig said, "and that not only is the structure a hazard to the traveling public, but to persons using or operating boats on the Neshaminy Creek."

Erected In 1927

The bridge, connecting Bristol and Bensalem Townships, was erected in 1927. "It was probably adequate to handle the volume of traffic at that time," Zweig continued.

"But the bridge today is the only section of road that is only two lanes wide. This condition creates a traffic problem for the Croydon area."

Shaw's detailed inspection report showed that parts of the sidewalks have sagged some six feet.

In Hospital

Acid Tossed In Bristol Youth's Eyes

A Bristol youth has been admitted to Lower Bucks County Hospital with possible acid burns to his eyes.

Bristol Borough police today reported that Ronald Hughes, 20, of 28 Fourth Ave., suffered possible cornea burns to his eyes shortly after midnight Monday.

Hughes told police he was walking along Jefferson Ave., near Prospect St., when a car bearing New Jersey plates pulled up. Hughes said there were seven or eight males in the car and one of them asked if he had a match.

When he told them he did not have one he quoted one of the passengers in the car as having said, "You'd better have one." Then Hughes told police, "They threw a liquid in my face."

Police said that Hughes made his way home and was later taken to the hospital by his parents.

The incident is being investigated by Sgt. Hubert Downs.

U. S. Syncom In Orbit

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — America passed its first obstacle today in a tough mission to station a Syncom communications satellite in orbit to provide ocean-spanning telecasts of October's Olympics from Japan.

From its planned hanging orbit over the Pacific, Syncom could also give the United States emergency communications with hard-to-reach Asian trouble spots.

A new model Delta rocket, packing twice its usual punch, sent the switchboard satellite into a preliminary yo-yo orbit expected to range from 700 miles to 22,900 miles above earth.

"As far as we know, it went where we aimed it," said launch director Robert H. Gray.

He said he was "delighted" with the rocket's performance but added that precise readings on the initial orbit may not be known for several hours because of a lack of immediate tracking data.

The next crucial step comes about 12:15 p.m. EDT tomorrow when on its third swing from earth, a rocket aboard the satellite itself will kick it into a circular 23,300 mile high path above the Equator.

Syncom's booster, a gleaming white vehicle with solid rockets strapped to its first stage to give it an extra kick, roared aloft 8:15 a.m. EDT today amid a great gush of white smoke and brilliant flame.

Its solid motor, used on the first time, was discarded over the Atlantic 70 seconds after lift off, and the sophisticated spacecraft sped into the preliminary looping orbit.

Registrars Sit In L. Bucks

Bucks County traveling registrars will be at the Maple Shade School, Prospect Ave., Croydon until 9 o'clock tonight.

Tomorrow the registrars will be at Liberty Bell Discourt, Street Road and Route 1, Trevose from 2 to 9 p.m.

This picture clearly shows the crumbling curbs, sagging sidewalks and parts of Route 13 washed away by poor drainage on the two-lane bridge over the Neshaminy Creek in Croydon.

Loans Given Approval

Four Firms Coming To Bucks County

Industrial growth continues in Bucks County with the announcement today that four new firms plan to set up shop here.

William P. Abbott, executive director of the Bucks County Industrial Development Corp., said the Pennsylvania Industrial Development Authority has approved loans to the firms totaling $381,400.

Preliminary approval was given to a loan application for Kent Corporation in the amount of $83,000 to be used in financing a 15,000-square-foot building on a 10-acre site adjoining Central Bucks County Airport in Buckingham Township. It is estimated this project will employ approximately 25-30 this year and will increase to 110-125 by the end of 1965.

Falls Township

Final approval was given to a loan application for Pittsburgh Metal Lithographing Company Inc. in the amount of $112,000 to construct a 30,000-square-foot building on Lower Morrisville Road in Falls Township. This company will employ approximately 25 workers.

Lady Bird's Assets $2,126,258

Johnson Family Worth $3.5 Million

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson today made public financial statements listing his family's net worth at $3,484,098.

The figures were provided to newsmen by the certified public accounting firm of Haskins & Sells which made an audit of the family's finances under instructions given them by the President last July 7.

The $3,484,098 net capital included $378,081 for the President, $2,126,258 for Mrs. Johnson, $490,141 for their 20-year-old daughter Lynda Bird, and $489,578 for their 17-year-old daughter Luci Baines.

The less-than-$3.5 million figure was far below some earlier published estimates of the first family's worth.

The audit was given newsmen at Haskins & Sells' office here but it said the accounting was done in the company's main office in New York city by its executive officer, Everett Shifflett.

Assets Listed

The family's principal financial assets were listed as being in capital stock of the Texas Broadcasting Corp., and in ranch properties and other real estate.

The family's capital was figured at $737,730 for Jan. 1, 1964, and $3,484,8 for July 31, 1964 — a gain of $2,746,368 over that 10-year, seven-month period.

During seven years of that period, Johnson was Senate Democratic leader, vice president and since Nov. 22 of last year — President.

The capital stock investment of the broadcasting corporation, which has been held in trust for Mrs. Johnson and the two daughters since the family entered the White House, was carried in the financial statements at $2,470,680.

Investments in ranch properties and other real estate were carried at $525,791.

The broadcasting corporation stock figures were said to represent the cost of the shares when issued to Mrs. Johnson between 1943 and 1947, plus accumulated earnings applicable as of last June 30.

The ranch properties and other real estate were listed at cost less allowance for depreciation of improvements.

"The amounts at which these investments in the broadcasting corporation and in ranch properties and other real estate are carried are not intended to indicate the values that might be realized if sold."

Registration Dismays GOP

Bucks Closing Vote Gap

By JIM STANTON
Courier-Times Staff Writer

"One of these days we're going to get organized!"

The words were spoken by a Republican committeeman recently as he read with dismay the registration figures for new voters in Bristol Township.

The totals read: Democrats, 577; Republicans 127; others, 34.

One ward, the Sixth, had the Democrats outregistering the Republicans by 203 to 7. Negroes make up about half the ward's population.

Many rank and file Republican workers see the figures as symptomatic of a deep unhappiness with the GOP leadership in the Bucks County Republican Organization.

They admit there is some dissatisfaction with the name of Barry M. Goldwater heading the ticket, but they minimize this as being but a minor reason for the apathy in party ranks.

The workers, none of whom wish to be quoted for obvious reasons, give these causes for the growing discontent:

— Chairman Myron W. Harris has been "playing both ends against the middle" — has made too many unkept promises to party workers — and is now reaping the harvest.

Community Colleges

Gov. Plans Education Expansion

HARRISBURG (UPI) — Gov. William W. Scranton said today he expects to send the 1965 General Assembly a plan for overhaul and expansion of higher education in Pennsylvania.

The governor said the proposals will be based on a "master plan" being drafted by the state Council of Higher Education. However, he said he personally favors an "accentuation of community colleges and state colleges."

"What we're after is that many more people can go to school than ever before, and at the lowest possible cost," he said at a news conference. "In this field we're going to have a considerable amount of legislation."

The governor reserved comment on a proposal by Sen. Albert R. Pechan, R-Armstrong, to convert Indiana State College and Temple University into state universities patterned after Pennsylvania State University.

Autumn Flair In The Air

Cool breezes beneath sunny skies gave Lower Bucks an early touch of autumn today.

Warming temperatures were expected tomorrow, but the weatherman sees no immediate relief to the mid-August dry spell.

Last night's showers produced only one one-hundredth of an inch of rain. The month's rainfall has been only 33 one-hundredths of an inch, well below the August normal of 4.77 inches. Showers may be forthcoming Saturday or Sunday.

At 3 p.m. today the thermometer reading was 74 degrees. Yesterday's high was 82.

Scranton was queried on a recent meeting between him and Stanley Branche, leader of the Chester Committee for Freedom Now, and said he did not ask Branche not to hold demonstrations in that city.

"I said, however, any kind of violence would be retrogressive in this most important area," he said.

Registration Set Aug. 27

The Bucks County Association for Retarded Children will hold registration for its Bristol pre-school nursery classes.

Registration will be Thursday, Aug. 27, at 1212 Wood St., Bristol, from 9:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. Any parent of a retarded child, ages 3½ and upward, may contact the office at ST 8-0524, or call the teacher, Mrs. Joseph McManus, at WI 6-2172.

Peter Pollini, executive director of the association, noted pre-school training is of the utmost importance in the motivation and development of the mentally handicapped child.

The classes meet Monday through Friday, 9:30 a.m. to 1 p.m., during the regular public school calendar year.

Profy Serving In Coast Guard

Francis P. Profy, seaman gunner's mate, USCG, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Profy of 907 Radcliffe St., Bristol, is serving at the Coast Guard Base, Detroit, Mich.

The base provides supply and repair support to Coast Guard units in the Detroit area.

Sponsor

Miss Linda Longcope, a member of the social studies department at Delhaas High School, will be faculty sponsor of the school's new newspaper, tentatively named "The Tiger's Roar." A resident of Perkasio, Miss Longcope is a graduate of Pennridge High School and Millersville State College. She joined the Delhaas faculty last year.

Accountants To See Grid Game

Trenton Chapter, National Association of Accountants, will hold its first social event of the year on Aug. 29. The chapter will attend the annual exhibition football game — Giants vs. Eagles — at Palmer Stadium, Princeton.

The chapter has obtained a block of tickets for the game. They are available from R. H. Hahn, Vulcanized Rubber and Plastics Co., Morrisville, or any other director of the chapter.

Church Group Going To Shore

The Bloomsdale Friends of the New Gethsemane Baptist Church of Philadelphia plan to spend Saturday in Atlantic City.

Buses will leave Green Lane and Mitchell Road at 9 a.m. and return at 11 p.m.

Along with the bus fare, part paid tickets to Steel Pier are also included.

Anyone interested may contact Nathaniel Mann, 2417 Liberator St., Bloomsdale Gardens, Levittown, at WI 3-1834, she said.

LB Authority To Go Ahead On Water, Sewer Expansion

By SCOOP LEWIS
Courier-Times Staff Writer

The Lower Bucks County Joint Municipal Authority is ready to embark on the first phase of a two-year program to improve and expand its water and sewer facilities.

The authority last night gave its managing engineer, Paul X. Blattler, the "go ahead" signal on the initial $600,000 improvement program.

Principal item in the water supply improvements will be the conversion of eight filters of the water filtration plant to increase its capacity from eight million to 12 million gallons daily. This will cost $135,000.

Put Us Ahead

Charles Lucisano, authority chairman, last night pointed out that the proposed improvements will "put us ahead" and will take care of the needs of Levittown and its environs "without overtaxing our facilities."

The $600,000 improvement program is expected to cause a slight increase in water rates to the 18,000 homes serviced by the authority. While not ready to give an exact increase figure, Lucisano said "it won't be more than $1.00 a quarter (three-month period)."

Today, Lucisano pointed out, the average annual water cost to the individual homeowner is $24. Water and sewer costs combined average about $58 yearly.

Organized In 1952

Richard W. Frazer, authority secretary, noted that there has been no rate increase since the authority was organized in 1952.

In addition to increasing by 50 per cent the capacity of the water filtration plant, other improvements to the authority's water supply will include a new water storage tank costing $230,000, and variable speed pumping, including controls, at a booster station and at Five Points, Levittown, costing $19,000.

Sanitary sewerage improvements will include conversion of electric power supply and stand-by electric power at the main sewage pumping station, $46,000; conversion of electric power supply at the sewage treatment plant, $32,000; controlled filters and tanks for the removal of grease and fats, $120,000; and variable speed pumping at main sewage pumping station and one new sewage pump, $18,000.

A second phase of the expansion program, costing an additional $650,000, is contemplated after 1967.

Within Two Years

The initial water and sewer improvement program is expected to be completed within two years.

The authority has launched the improvement program to cope with the increased demands of its consumers. During recent hot, dry spells the authority's pumps were working a peak production with over 10,000 gallons of water being pumped daily.

Despite a record 4.85-inch deluge last July 8, Lower Bucks is having a dry summer. From June 1 to Aug. 31, the normal rainfall is 12.55 inches. To date, we've had 9.04 inches. This month, we've had only 38 one-hundredths of an inch of rain.

The first workshop for kindergarten teachers, sponsored by the Bucks County Schools Study Council will be held Monday through Wednesday at the Goodnoe Elementary School, Newtown.

Approximately 50 kindergarten teachers and elementary principals will participate in this workshop devoted to new ideas in kindergarten education. The workshop is co-sponsored by the chief school administrators of individual school districts of the county and the Bucks County Public Schools office.

National Consultants

Outstanding national consultants will make presentations during the three-day workshop. Dr. Louise Ames, director of research, Gesell Institute, New Haven, Conn. will serve as chief consultant Monday.

Her topic will be concerned with the five year old's readiness for school. Assisting her will be Mrs. Jane DeWees of Rose Tree Union School District, Media. Mrs. DeWees will demonstrate the "Developmental Scales" developed by the Gesell Institute for evaluating school readiness.

Special attention will be given to new developments in program experiences for young children. Mrs. Catherine Brunner, director of the Early Admissions Project of Baltimore City Public Schools, will serve as chief consultant on Tuesday. The project is a research project concerned with enriching the first school experiences.

Parent Relationship

Scheduled events for Wednesday include a presentation from a representative of the Learning Center, Princeton, N.J. and a discussion of parents' relationship to kindergarten programs. An address by Dr. George E. Raab, Bucks County superintendent of schools, on "Whither Goest Kindergarten?" will conclude the Workshop.

County staff coordinator for the workshop is Dr. Lucy Davis, coordinator, special pupil services, assisted by elementary leaders from school districts in the county: Robert Barth, elementary principal, New Britain Township School District; William Hinds, elementary supervisor, Neshaminy School District; Donald McClintock, supervising principal, Doylestown Borough Schools; and Elvin Warfel, elementary principal, Neshaminy School District.

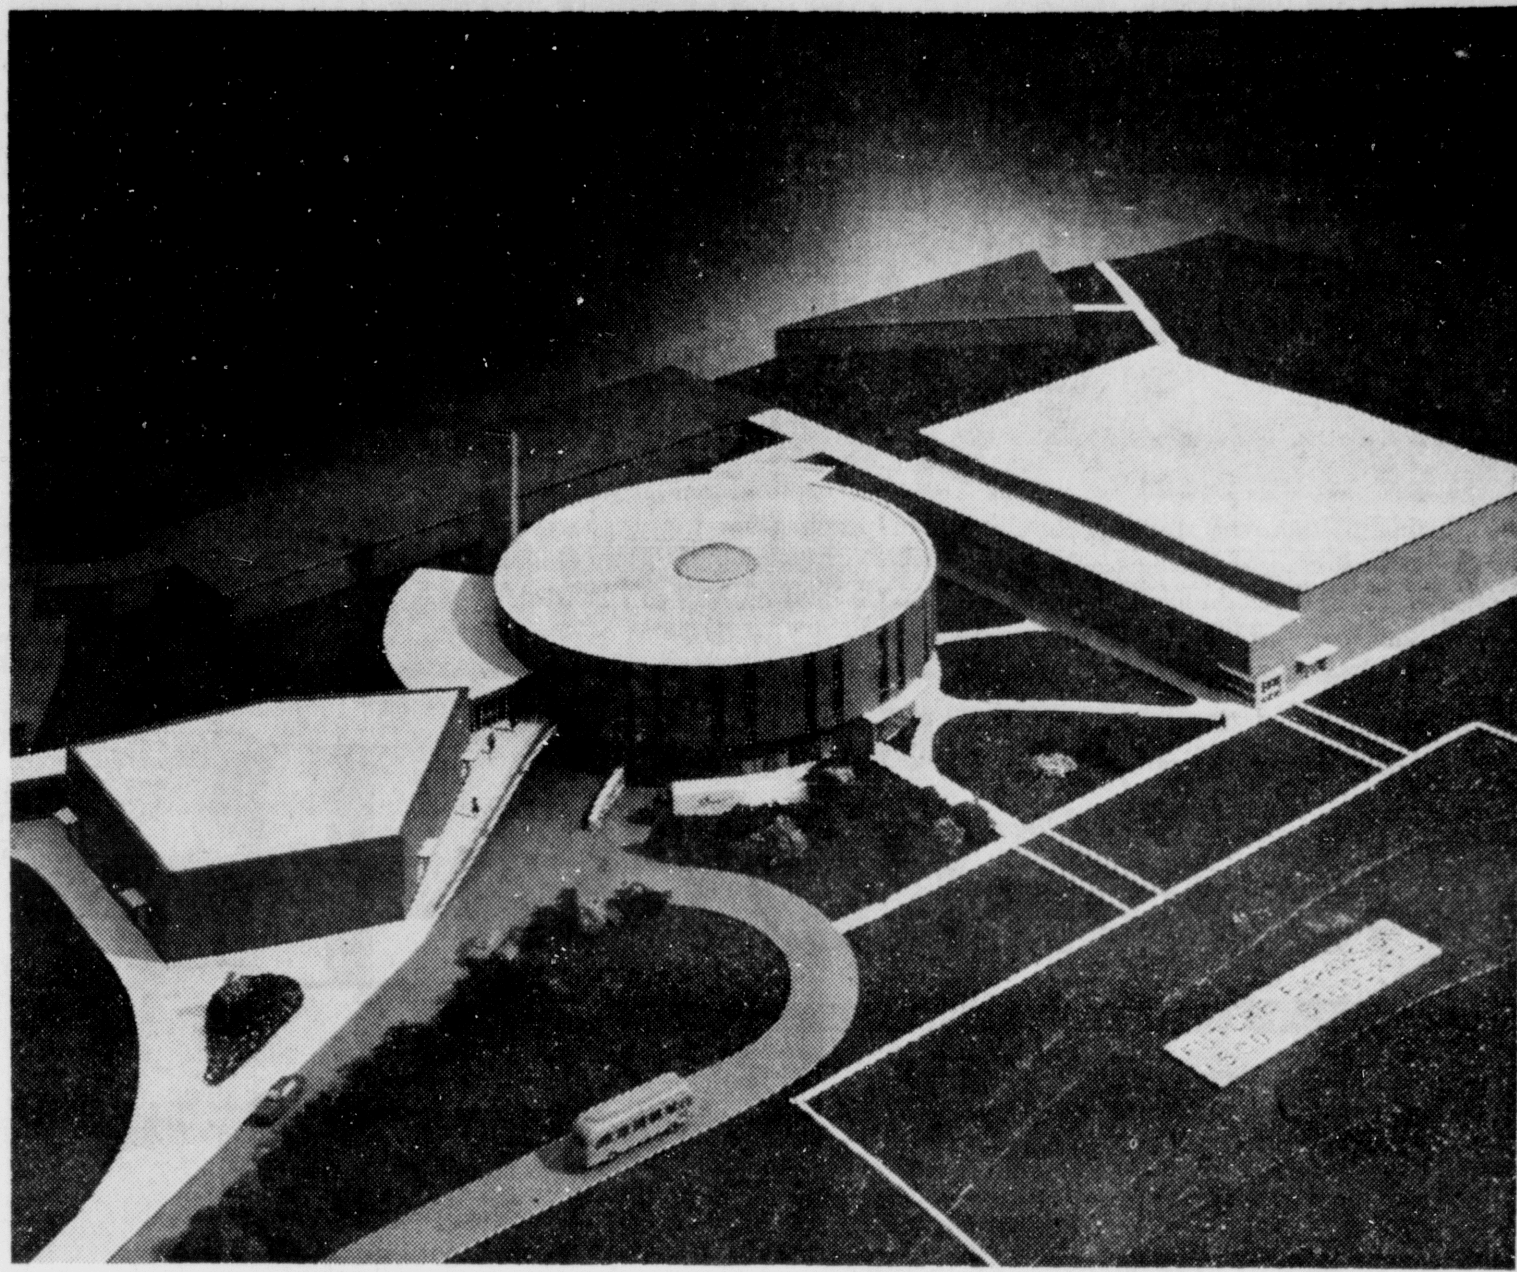

Dr. Morton Botel, Louis Bender, Melvin G. Mack, and Dr. Joseph Tezza, of the county office, have assisted with the plans.

The Bucks County Study Council is comprised of the chief school administrators of the school districts of Bucks County and representatives from the County Office of Education. During the past four years the study council has brought expert opinion of national consultants directly to the teachers of the schools of the county.

By the end of this summer, 2,400 teachers will have participated in these workshops. Funds for the summer workshops and publications resulting from them come from a charge of five cents per pupil contributed by the participating schools.

New Neshaminy High School Buildings

This is the design by Hagg and d'Entremont, architects, for the expansion of Neshaminy High School which will be paid for by a $3,070,000 bond issue for the Neshaminy School District. At left is pentagon-shaped auditorium, in the center is the circular library, and on its right is the gymnasium. In the foreground is space for another building to be constructed in three years for 1,500 students.

5 Children Off To Camp For Blind

Five campers left yesterday for two weeks at Beacon Lodge Camp for the Blind, located 200 miles from Levittown near Mount Union, Pa.

Arrangements for the camping were made by Mrs. Eleanor Schantz, home visitor for the Bucks County Association for the Blind, and William Kelits, member of the camp's board of directors and a member of the Levittown Lions Club.

This camping period is in addition to the regular three-week encampment for children held in July, which was attended by seven Bucks County visually handicapped children.

Children's Cabins

Beacon Lodge has been in operation 14 years as an adult camp. There were no separate facilities for the children until two weeks ago, when five cabins each housing six campers and a counselor, were completed and furnished by Lions Clubs of Pennsylvania.

The original seven campers were sponsored by Lions Clubs of Bucks County, the Federated Women's Club of Levittown and the Upper Orchard Women's Club. The additional campers were sponsored by the Lions Clubs.

Earlier this year, the camp was able to purchase a Greenbrier station wagon with trading stamps sent by various Lions Clubs. Leftover stamps were used to purchase equipment for the camp.

Falls Twp. Delays Decision On Steel Assessment Cut

Falls Township's Board of supervisors last night decided to withhold a decision on what action, if any, it can take to counter the multi-million dollar tax assessment cut granted U.S. Steel last Thursday by Bucks County Judge Edwin A. Satterthwaite.

Although the board had called the special meeting to determine its future course on the matter, it deferred action until its solicitor has completed a study of the 93-page opinion handed down by Judge Satterthwaite.

Milton Berkes, chairman of the board, and superintendent of the township, said his board and solicitor Samuel Snipes has not yet been able to digest the context of the voluminous opinion. He said the board plans to meet in executive session with the Falls Township School Board and its solicitor as soon as the opinion has been evaluated, for the purpose of deciding what action the boards can take.

Berkes said he and others in the township were stunned by the Judge's decision which allowed assessment reductions of close to $9,000,000 for 1962 and over $6,000,000 for 1963.

The decision follows an 11-day hearing last October during which time U.S. Steel's Fairless Works, located in Falls Township, maintained that its assessments over a four-year period (1960-1964) were "grossly excessive."

Although the full implications of the tax cut are not yet fully understood, Berkes said it would shift part of the tax responsibility from industry to the home owner.

Berkes said, "Judge Satterthwaite is saying (in the opinion) that industry can take certain depreciations which the home owner is not entitled to. Where is the fairness of this?"

Berkes said, "I never anticipated a decision which is such a complete give-in to the steel mill."

"Functional obsolescence," is the term Judge Satterthwaite used in referring to those steel mill depreciations," Berkes said. "Actually what it amounts to is that the home owners of Falls Township are being penalized for mistakes the steel mill made when it built its plant only 10 years ago."

In other action, the board approved the hiring of an additional police officer, William Shaw, effective Sept. 1, as requested by Police Chief Franklin Kirby; the appointment of Ptl. Ed Born to traffic safety officer; and the purchase of $974 in police equipment including safety helmets, pistols, night sticks and other items used in police work.

Rotary To Hear Industry Talk

John M. Wright, public affairs supervisor or Bell Telephone Co. of Pennsylvania, will talk on industrial development in the state before the luncheon meeting of Bristol Rotary Thursday, 12:15 p.m. in the Cavalier Room, Beaver Dam Road near Route 13.

Wright will describe the aims and the work of the "100,000 Pennsylvanians for Industrial Development" committee created last year by Gov. William W. Scranton. Wright is a volunteer member of the committee.

Lefcourt Gets Convention Post

John T. Welsh, chairman of the Bucks County Democratic Committee has announced he has received word from the Democratic National Committee of the appointment of Hal Lefcourt of Levittown, former Democratic Candidate for U.S. Congress, to a post at the coming National Convention at Atlantic City.

Marvin Watson, coordinator of all Convention Activities, has assigned Lefcourt to the Special Assignments committee, a group responsible for the solving of problems during the visit of high personages to the Atlantic City convention.

Welsh said Lefcourt is scheduled to attend a briefing Saturday at Convention Hall. Welsh continued, "the appointment of Lefcourt marks the first time the Bucks County Democratic Committee has received an appointment of note at a Democratic Convention."

2 Unhurt In Car Wreck

A Levittown woman and her two-year-old daughter escaped injuries last night when the woman's car went out of control, jumped a medial strip, rolled onto its roof, and plunged over an embankment.

The small foreign car was a total wreck, but uninjured were Mrs. Sandra Parmentier, 21, of 10 Vista Road, Violetwood, and her daughter Lorraine.

The two were taken to Lower Bucks Hospital, where they were examined and released.

Mrs. Parmentier told police that she turned to look at Sandra, who was in the back seat, then lost control of the car.

The accident occurred at 6:40 p.m. on Route 13, a half-mile north of Mill Creek Road, Falls Township.

Bucks Demos Plan Annual Ox Roast

The Bucks County Democratic Committee will stage its biggest social event of the political year, "The Annual Ox Roast," on Saturday, Sept. 12, at the Bucks County Police Association picnic grove at Route 611 (Easton Road) and Rolling Hills Road, near Pipersville, (Bedminster Township), from 1 to 5 p.m.

John T. Welsh, Democratic County Chairman, stated today, "the 1964 Ox Roast will be held in the same location as last year because of the new and excellent facilities and the large parking area, ample tables and benches and rest room facilities."

Chairman Welsh also said the Committee would be able to serve the ox roast patrons faster and to handle the large crowd in a more efficient manner because of the fine facilities at the police association grove.

The Ox Roast has previously been well attended. Last year approximately 4,000 people were on hand. A countywide horseshoe pitching contest will be held under the direction of capable officials and there will be appropriate prizes.

Arrangements have been made to have ponies available for the children for free rides. There will be organized games for the children of all ages with suitable prizes.

The Ox Roast general chairman, Jacob M. Tirjan Jr., of Milford Square, and John Murphy of Hilltown Township, stated "that the Democratic Party will continue its policy of keeping the price of tickets at the 'rockbottom low of $1.00 each'."

Tirjan and Murphy said that the tickets may be secured from any Democratic committeeman or committeewoman, or at the Democratic headquarters at 62 East Court St. in Doylestown.

The public has been invited to attend and join in the affair which features charcoal broiled angus beef on delicious rolls, along with liquid refreshments.

There will be hot dogs and birch beer for the children.

Rube Fenstermacher Band from Allentown will furnish the music. A Democratic national speaker of great prominence will be announced at a later date as the featured speaker for the Ox Roast.

The statewide Democratic candidates (Genevieve Blatt for U.S. Senate; Robert Lee Jacobs and J. Sydney Hoffman for judges of the Superior Court; Ralph O. Samuel for U.S. Congress; and James J. A. Gallagher, Stephen Weiss, Phyllis Antunes, James Frain, and Oscar Bortner, candidates for state legislature) will also be in attendance.

Vietnamese Remove Kennedy Monument

SAIGON, Viet Nam (UPI) — Workmen quietly removed a granite monument to the late President John F. Kennedy before dawn today in an apparent government concession to South Viet Nam's restive Roman Catholics.

Catholics had objected to the one-ton monument because it signified renaming "Our Lady of Peace" square for the late American President.

6 Killed On Turnpike

BEAVER FALLS, Pa. (UPI) — A two-car crash on the Pennsylvania Turnpike Tuesday night killed six persons and injured three others.

Police said one of the vehicles vaulted a steel medial divider and plunged into the path of the other car.

Five of the dead were riding in one car. They were identified as Jerry Tinsley, 18, the driver; Parnell L. Days, 17; Morris B. Lanier, 18, and Robert C. Price, 18, all of Cleveland, Ohio, and Isaac Resnick, 50, of Brooklyn, N.Y.

The sixth fatality was Frank Heinz, 25, of Center, N.D., driver of the second car.

Injured were Heinz' wife Lenore, 24, and their daughter, Kyle, 3, both reported in critical condition, and Kenneth Francis, 15, of Cleveland, A passenger in Tinsley's car.

James H. Hilbert, 45, of Selinsgrove, Pa., a truck driver, was struck by a car while walking back to his rig after viewing the accident. He was hospitalized here in serious condition.

Police said Tinsley's car weaved out of control after passing an auto then hurtled the divided into the Heinz car.

Extra Vote Signing Day Up In The Air

Commissioner Walter S. Farley Jr. says "yes."

Commissioner John J. Bodley says "no."

Registration clerk Claud L. Kern says "I wish I knew."

The difference of opinion is whether or not there will be an extra day for registration of new voters in Bristol Township.

Earlier yesterday Oscar A. Booz, chairman of the Bristol Township Democratic Organization, said that on Saturday the traveling registrars would sit at 4137 Woerner Ave., Five Points, Levittown from 2 till 9 p.m.

But later yesterday, Bodley, a Republican, who is chairman of the County commissioners, said that the date had not been approved by the Registration Commission. The three county commissioners make up the commission.

Farley, a Democrat, yesterday said that he and Commissioner Joseph O. Canby, a Republican, had approved the extra day on July 6 at a commission meeting from which Bodley was absent.

On Friday, Farley told Kern to send out letters to various parties telling them the date had been arranged. Yesterday Bodley told Kern to cancel the date.

Farley said that Bodley "will have to go to court to rescind the action of the board of commissioners." Apparently the dispute will be settled by Canby who has been out of town and unavailable for comment.

Going in Circles

By Larry Incollingo

Circles blows a horn for a fellow newsmen today. He is one of 350 who covered the Soap Box Derby Finals in Akron, Ohio, last week.

Since the beginning of the Derby event it has been the custom of the Summit County Sheriff's Department to select one newspaperman and make him a deputy sheriff.

The selections are made by Ben James, assistant managing editor of the Akron Beacon-Journal.

Last week a newsmen covering the Derby was lured by James to a hotel room and there he came face-to-face with Summit County Sheriff Robert D. Campbell.

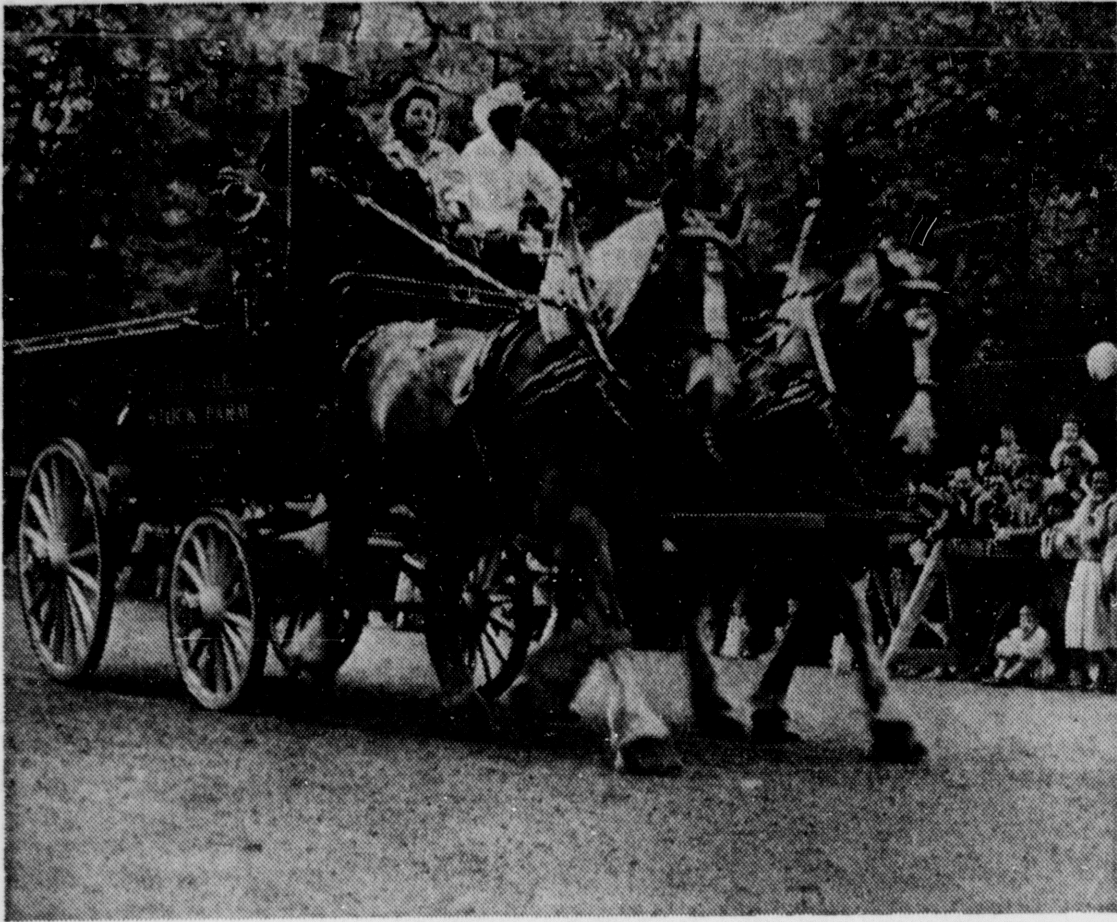

"Raise your right hand," Campbell ordered the newsmen. And before he knew what was happening (Charles) Scoop Lewis, Courier-Times newsmen left end, became a duly sworn Deputy Sheriff of Summit County, Ohio. He was presented a badge, No. 127-A, and a pocket certification of his authority.

Scoop's covered six of the Akron events and the signal honor is well deserved.

His authority is confined to Summit County, Ohio, thank goodness — else his first arrest might well be the newsmen's right end who let this cat out of the bag without his or the quarterback's consent.

Thiokol Launches Employee 'Democracy In Action' Plan

Thiokol Chemical Corp. has launched a "Democracy in Action" program in the Trenton area to encourage its employees to take a more active part in local, state and national elections.

Part of a corporate-wide endeavor, the program will give Thiokol employees an opportunity to contribute to, and work toward the election of, the candidates of their choice.

"We believe that the growing future of America and good government can be strengthened through the continuance of a two-party system and the interest and involvement of every citizen in the political processes which produced our local, state and national leaders in government," Board Chairman J. W. Crosby and President Dr. H. W. Ritchey said in a joint statement.

Active Part
Trenton Panelyte Industrial Division Manager W. E. Deasy and Dr. S. M. Martin, vice president and general manager of the Trenton Chemical Division said the program "will give every member of the families of Thiokol employees an opportunity to participate actively in the election of the candidates of his choice without fear of reprisal or without the feeling that his political contributors, regardless of the size, are insignificant."

Deasy announced the appointment of John J. Norton and Salvatore M. Fanelli to serve as chairmen of Panelyte's Democratic and Republican committees, respectively. Dr. Martin announced the appointment of Mrs. Mary M. Gray and Richard White. Committee members will be announced later, he said.

Meet With Leaders
Chairmen from both Thiokol divisions said they hope to meet with local and state Democratic and Republican leaders in the near future to discuss party plans for the upcoming general election and explain to them the plans and objectives of the Thiokol program.

They said contributions will be voluntary and funds will be accepted by both committees jointly. Each employee will designate which candidate or candidates to whom his contribution will be made, they said.

The program will continue through Sept. 30, at which time all funds contributed will be forwarded to the office-seekers.

Tither Ends Army Course

Womanpower Policy Is Trend-Setter

Editor's Note: This is the second of a series of three dispatches on women in government.

By HELEN THOMAS

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson's hiring of women to do some of the big jobs for government is a trend setter for the entire country.

Local governments and private industry also are looking at the qualifications of women with new eyes.

So say Assistant Secretary of Labor Esther Peterson and Mrs. Mary Keyserling, head of The Women's Bureau.

Mrs. Keyserling says the President's recognition of female talent has made the federal government "a showcase" for the country. She says it has given a "tremendous psychological" lift to those who strive to break down the discriminatory barriers against career women.

Fewer women, she said, are facing the prospect of job openings tagged with "Only a man need apply."

Mrs. Keyserling compares the impact of the White House campaign with the granting of suffrage to women. The equal pay law and Title VII of the Civil Rights Act which bars discrimination in employment on account of race or sex also is a great boon for females who work outside the home, she believes. It takes effect in one year.

She believes there is no stopping the momentum for female equality — much of it economic.

A big help, she says, will be the Job Corps for Women, a part of the Anti-Poverty Law which will give underprivileged young women a chance for training in homemaking and careers.

Thirty-three states have followed the national suit by setting up Commissions on the Status of Women and they are tackling the problems at hand with enthusiasm and energy.

Mrs. Peterson says "We have to keep pushing," that a lot remains to be done to make a woman's lot an equal one. But she believes the White House impetus is spilling over.

Businessmen are becoming more aware of different standards applied to the female staff. Women, too, have told her, "I'm losing my guilt complex."

Neither Mrs. Keyserling nor Mrs. Peterson worry about the loss of femininity in the increase of women executives. "We're less feminine when we feel underprivileged, when we have a chip on our shoulder," said the Woman's Bureau head.

If he wins re-election, the word around town is that Johnson is sure to name a woman to his cabinet. Most presidents are subjected to some pressure from big female organizations to put at least one woman in the cabinet. But Johnson is a man who doesn't need much pushing in that direction.

He has scored "firsts" with several appointments of women to jobs once considered strictly the man's world. Among these were the selection of Dr.

Mary Bunting, former president of Radcliffe College to be a member of the Atomic Energy Commission; Mrs. Virginia Mae Brown of West Virginia as a member of the Interstate Commerce Commission and Mrs. Elizabeth S. May, former dean of Wheaton College in Massachusetts to the board of directors of the Export-Import Bank.

Other standout appointments were Mrs. Dorothy Jacobson, formerly of the Minnesota State Department of Education as assistant secretary of agriculture; Mrs. Jane Hanna of St. Joseph, Mo. as deputy director for civil defense in the Department of Defense, and Mrs. Charlotte M. Hubbard as deputy assistant secretary of state for public affairs.

In the world of diplomacy, he sent Mrs. Katherine Elkus White as Ambassador to Denmark and career diplomat Margaret Joy Tibbets as Ambassador to Norway.

The appointments seem to sit well, too. The government has had no complaints, so far. In fact, one woman wrote the First Lady: "I feel much safer knowing that a woman who is also a mother is participating in the deliberations on the use of atomic energy."

Mrs. Bunting is an educator, a scientist, and a mother of four children. A beauty and a mother, whose nickname is "Peaches," ICC Commissioner Brown holds down a tough job that always has been associated with men because it deals with trucking and railroading.

A fellow member of the commission says: "She is a quiet efficient person who does the job."

"There is a lot less fuss than we thought there would be," he added. "She is fully accepted as would be any other member of the commission."

Mrs. Brown returns the compliment. "They just want you to do a job," she says. "They respect a job well done. Everyone has treated me so nice, and it's not just lip service. I've gone into every bureau and met the people who work there. They are very helpful."

Johnson's efforts have been highly praised by the National Federation of Business and Professional Women who call the trend a real "break-through."

But it's not just a one-way street. Two women in Congress recently showed they mean equality for all — even men. Rep. Frances Bolton, (R-Ohio) introduced a bill to permit male nurses in the Army and Air Force Nurse Corps to receive commissions.

She was wholeheartedly backed up by Rep. Leonor K. Sullivan (D-Mo.), who pointed out that in the nursing field, women "are a little more equal" than men.

But the main concentration these days is on boosting the status of women and helping to make true Johnson's quip that "A woman's place is not only in the home, but in the House, the Senate, and throughout government service."

N. Y. Woman Wins Friends Through Their 'Sweet Tooth'

By Gay Pauley
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Mrs. James F. Daw, 74, finds that one way to win friends and influence bus drivers, waitresses, and others is by appealing to their sweet tooth.

The retired librarian, a widow, dispenses candy along with general good cheer to those whom she meets daily to "pep up the world a bit."

"I have made friends I never would have met otherwise," said Margaret Swenson Daw.

"Why, of course, New York is a big friendly city."

Mrs. Daw, a resident of Long Island City, N.Y., began her candy dispensing several months ago because "I was having a little trouble with a hip and I wanted to get off the front entrance of buses. Those back doors were too much for me to handle."

She found a couple of pieces of candy passed along to bus drivers sweetened their traffic — sour dispositions considerably — they let her use the front exits. Maybe, she decided, the sweet talk would work with others.

Now, from her "pocketful of magic", a plastic bag filled with the candies, she dispenses to over-rushed waitresses, glum elevator operators, irate salesgirls, restaurant hostesses and cashiers, and bank tellers.

She figures she gives away two to three pounds a week — "it doesn't make me poor, and I get such a nice feeling from it," she said.

Mrs. Daw for 40 years was with the Queensborough Public Library. She retired 10 years ago on a New York State Pension.

She remembered, during an interview, that libraries were places where people "came to visit only if they wanted to, except for students, doing required reading. The grocer you have to visit and pay, the landlord you have to pay. But the library is there free for those with a desire to learn."

"Not too long ago," she continued, "I was at a community meeting on juvenile delinquency and one young man present said, 'Aren't you Miss Swenson who used to be with the library?'"

"I told him I was and he remembered, 'You threw me out a couple of times for making too much noise.'"

Said Mrs. Daw, "I told him, 'Well, I did make a good boy out of you, didn't I?'" The "boy" was now a Catholic Father.

Mrs. Daw said she used to read every book that went on library shelves, but today does less reading and more watching of television.

While watching the screen she knits — afghans for the Veterans Administration Hospitals.

Once a week she is a volunteer at the Elmhurst General Hospital, sitting and singing old songs with terminal disease patients. With the head nurse's permission, she usually takes her charges a pan of home-made buttermilk biscuits.

She's hardly a rocking chair type any day of the week. I found she's regular customer at a skyscraper restaurant in mid-Manhattan where the help knows her for her candies and for the fact she waits until after 1:30 p.m. to lunch when the men's grill is opened also to women.

"I took a friend there to lunch with me the other day," said Mrs. Daw. "And she accused me of just waiting to eat in the grill because there were men around."

"I told her," she said, "that at the age of 74 I figured it was up to me to decide if I liked men's company more than women's."

Star-spangled way to help your baby's future

Suppose somebody had started off your future with a U. S. Savings Bond. And kept adding more Bonds as your birthdays added up.

You would have had a nice send-off when you set out to conquer the world!

It's still a great idea. And if you have any new boys or girls in the family you can put it into action now.

The cost is small. Only $37.50 for each $50 Bond—or less than 11¢ a day to buy one every birthday.

U. S. Savings Bonds will save more than money for your baby's future, too. They'll help Uncle Sam safeguard his future freedom.

Ask about buying Bonds where you work or bank. You don't have to wait for a birthday, either.

Quick facts about Series E Savings Bonds

- You get back $4 for every $3 at maturity (7½ years)
- You pay no state or local income tax and can defer the federal tax until the Bonds are cashed
- Your Bonds are replaced free if lost, destroyed or stolen
- You can get your money when you need it

Yardley Council Sets Hearing Date On N. Main St. Variance Request

A public hearing will be held on Monday, Sept. 28, before Yardley Borough Council on a request for a zoning variance to allow an apartment and service station on N. Main St.

The council fixed the date at its monthly meeting this week in Borough Hall. A previous hearing on the request had been postponed.

The hearing will be called to air public opinion on the request by the Orchard Hill Farms Inc. to build a 300-unit garden apartment and a gas station on a 36-acre tract at N. Main St. near Dolington Road.

Owens Farm Tract

The firm, which owns a tract known as Hall's Orchard Farm, has principal officers of John O. Dice and Robert J. Ryan, both local realtors.

A Newtown lawyer David Krewson, representing the firm made the request for the variance before Yardley Council several months ago.

The Yardley Citizens Association, upon hearing of the request, immediately began making plans to fight the commercialization of this residential area.

Hearings To Be Set

The council said a zoning committee would study the request further and set a date for a public hearing on this case. Miller had requested the change in June. Originally, his hearing was to be held along with the other one.

In other matters, the council agreed to tie in with the county-wide police radio hookup.

Councilman Alvin H. Straner, who recommended the hookup, explained that the move will cost the borough only the initial expense of $600 to install police radios on the county frequency.

Many Have Tied-In

Yardley council's decision to tie-in follows that of Lower Makefield. Other communities hooked up include Lower Southampton, Tullytown, Upper Makefield, Northampton, Newtown, Wrightstown and New Hope-Solebury.

Straner explained that residents were having difficulties calling police with the present set-up. Some residents are not sure whether they live in Yardley or Lower Makefield, due to the post office address mixup.

Thus, he noted, when residents call police through the present Trenton radio dispatcher, they are not certain which police they are calling.

To Increase Power

Straner said he would also discuss with Lower Makefield the possibility of establishing a separate dispatch service for fire and rescue squads, due to frequent mix-ups.

In still other matters, the council agreed to investigate increasing the maximum capacity of the electrical power in borough hall and the fire house, due to an over-load which has caused recent fuses to be blown.

The change in service to 200 amps would cost about $750 to $1,000, he said.

Ribbons For Youths

Ross Gray, supervisor of the recreation program, pins ribbons on Lee Walsh of Yardley and Ken Larson of Lower Makefield, who were cited as outstanding participants in the six - week summer recreation program sponsored by the Lower Makefield - Yardley Recreation Board. The ceremony was held during the recent awards night at Makefield School. (Courier - Times)

Some Volkswagen owners look down on other Volkswagen owners.

When you graduate from a Volkswagen Sedan to a Volkswagen Station Wagon, you really step up in the world.

The Station Wagon stands a good foot taller than other cars.

And it holds more than the biggest conventional wagon you can find.

But the VW Wagon isn't only tall. It's also short.

We saved 4 feet of hood in front by putting the engine in back.

Big as it is inside, it's only 9 inches longer than the Volkswagen Sedan.

So people who move up to the high-slung model still feel very much at home.

They park in the same little spots.

They still don't worry about freezing or boiling; the engine is air-cooled.

They still go a long way on a gallon of gas (about 24 miles) and a very long way on a set of tires (about 30,000 miles).

And it just tickles them to drive one Volkswagen and look down on a million others.

Student Rise Noted At Pennsbury

An increase of 995 in total school enrollment in the Pennsbury Schools was shown as the 1964-65 enrollment figures were released today.

William W. Ingraham, regional superintendent, announced that a total of 11,496 students have enrolled for this school year in the 16 schools in the system. This figure compares with last year's total enrollment of 10,501.

The Pennsbury Schools during this past few months have added one new school to its complex. That is the Tullytown School District, which joined Pennsbury in July.

Tullytown Pupils

A total of 425 new elementary students are enrolled for 1964-65 from Tullytown in Pennsbury Schools.

There are 11 elementary schools and four secondary schools in Pennsbury system. A new high school, which is expected to be built in Fairless Hills, will be opened in the fall of 1965.

A total of 35 new school teachers on the elementary level and 32 on the secondary level has been hired by Pennsbury. A total of 265 elementary and 237 secondary teachers will teach this year. School opens on Sept. 9.

Morrisville Man Arrested

A 23-year-old Morrisville man was arrested last night by Falls Township police for driving without an operator's license and registration card.

The arrest followed an accident in which the man, Jaime Munoz Ramos, Route 13, Morrisville Rd., lost control of his car and skidded into a ditch.

Neither Ramos nor his three passengers were injured.

With him were Nersondi Carrero, 26; Americo Velez, 24, and Jose Morales, 21, all of the same address.

Ramos was also charged with reckless driving in a hearing last night. He is being held in Falls Township jail pending payment of his fine.
